The following is a letter from AMBIDDY-1's father to his son.

8 June 1934

My dear son Manolin,

It has been a while since we have received a letter from you. We are writing this to find out how you are and we suppose you are well. Here everyone is well, thank God.

Your mother is not writing you because I am writing it quickly so that it can leave today.

We have presented everything since 20 March as well as depositing the price of the fares and we are only waiting for permission to leave which we will soon have. When it happens we will send you a cable.

Your Grandmother Rosa is sick and when I saw her today she told me she hoped you would come to liberate her. Therefore we know you are doing your duty. I support your position. Don Jaime is well, thank God.

I saw Balita and she sends her love. She also told me to tell you to write Lino and his brother a letter and to send it via this channel. Balita is not going there until you send it (the letter) and it should be done through this channel if it is possible.

That letter which is addressed to Consuelo at the Camp should be put a stamp on it immediately and mail it for it to arrive at its destination. I am staying in her father's home and I am very anxious to help her.
